

At 75 and traveling so much I have limited time for studying topics other than my professional notes. I am all in favor in letting CW folks continue their endeavors if they desire. However, there seems to be a multitude of good emergency operators that are suppressed due to the code requirements. My contention: Throw the dinosaurs out.